USETDA 2013 Conference – Call for Proposals

Proposals for presentations, panel sessions and posters are invited for the upcoming U.S Electronic Thesis and Dissertation Conference to be held in Claremont, California (near Disneyland resort, beaches & Hollywood) July 24-26, 2013.

Deadline: Proposals should be submitted on or before April 1, 2013 to be considered.

Proposals should reflect the conference theme: Waves of Change: Oceans of Opportunity

The U.S. Electronic Thesis and Dissertation Association welcomes the following types of submissions:

Poster sessions – peer reviewed
Poster sessions are invited to submit proposals presenting innovative work. Two types of posters can be encouraged: contributed research posters presenting new and promising work or preliminary results of ongoing projects; and contributed “best practices” posters presenting practical implementations of an organization’s practices or innovations. The content of the poster should clearly point out how the application contributes to innovation of thought or design within the field, and how it addresses key challenges, as well as the potential impact on the participant’s organization and/or practices in the field. Joint submissions from students, librarians, graduate school administrators and other professionals demonstrating different perspectives on a single issue are particularly encouraged. Posters are expected to elicit discussion in a personal and less formal setting. Submissions for refereeing should be in the form of a one-page abstract up to 500 words.

Single-session presentations and panels – peer reviewed
Single session presentations and panels are invited on topics that include emerging issues, hot or emerging trends, opinions on controversial issues, analyses of tools and techniques, and contrasting viewpoints in complementary professional areas. For single-session presentations, please submit a proposal of up to 500 words, providing a summary of the presentation topic and the qualifications of the speaker.

Panels must have a cohesive theme and promote lively interaction between panelists and audience members. Please submit a panel proposal up to 500 words, providing an overview of the issues to be discussed by the panel and brief bios of each of the panelists. Proposals should only list panelists who have agreed to participate and shall indicate the qualifications and contribution that each panelist will offer.
Presentation, panel and poster session topics are encouraged to address:

- Change management, transitions and transformations
- Services and outreach to enhance ETD development
- Supporting ETDs with Library services and information instruction
- Business Realities and Organizational Challenges
- ETDs and Ethics, Security & Quality
- Centralized and Decentralized submission processes
- Intellectual Property, Copyright, Patents and Tech Transfer
- Developing and implementing ETD Policies and Procedures
- Developing campus support and leadership
- Collaborative Opportunities, Community-Building and Campus Partnerships
- Global ETD Issues
- Software and Technology
- ETD Innovation and Exploration
- Failures and Successes
- File-types and Formatting, including use of non-traditional mediums
- Publishing, Research and management of datasets
- Nuts and bolts of ETD management including case studies of workflow and ingest models
- Retroactive digitization and ETD migration/harvesting
- Undergraduate and other student scholarship

Submission Site

Once you have prepared your proposal according to the above instructions, please use the electronic submission system to submit your item for review. Go to https://conferences.tdl.org/USETDA/USETDA2013/index, click on the “Proposal Submission” link in the right-hand sidebar and follow the prompts.

About the Conference

USETDA 2013 is designed for ETD professionals from graduate schools, libraries and information technology sectors who work with ETDs or ETD programs. Our focus will be on relevant and current ETD issues with an emphasis on sharing best-practices and resources within the U.S. The mission of USETDA is to provide information on best practices, develop and disseminate important information on ETD initiatives, support the development of statewide ETD associations, bring ETD professionals together at the local level to network and improve ETD operations, educate and make others aware of ETD issues, and support the expansion of the NDLTD and other international ETD initiatives.

Searching for innovative new ways to engage your students? Looking to increase efficiency by making technology work for you? Take your ETD program to the next level. This year’s program includes an outstanding lineup of speakers and presentations!

Conference Program

USETDA 2013 activities will include Keynote speakers Sarah Shreeves (University of Illinois) who will talk about the "Changing Tide of Scholarship, Opportunities and..."
Challenges with ETDs” and Char Miller, (Claremont University Consortium), who will talk about the “Pedagogical impact of OA on undergraduate work”. Additionally the program will provide concurrent breakout sessions and panel discussions on 27 relevant topics based on our peer-reviewed Call for Proposals including:

- Change management, transitions and transformations
- Services and outreach to enhance ETD development
- Supporting ETDs with Library services and information instruction
- Business Realities and Organizational Challenges
- ETDs and Ethics, Security & Quality
- Centralized and Decentralized submission processes
- Intellectual Property, Copyright, Patents and Tech Transfer
- Developing and implementing ETD Policies and Procedures
- Developing campus support and leadership
- Collaborative Opportunities, Community-Building and Campus Partnerships

Keynote Speakers

Char Miller is director of the environmental analysis program at Pomona College and the W. M. Keck Professor of Environmental Analysis. He received his Ph.D. from the Johns Hopkins University and B.A. from Pitzer College. He is author of the award-winning Deep in the Heart of San Antonio: Land and Life in South Texas and Gifford Pinchot and the Making of Modern Environmentalism. Most recently, Miller published Public Lands, Public Debates: A Century of Controversy (2012) and is co-editor of Between Ruin and Restoration: An Environmental History of Israel (2013).
His latest books include On the Edge: Water, Immigration, and Politics in the Southwest (2013) and Seeking the Greatest Good: The Conservation Legacy of Gifford Pinchot (2013) and the co-authored Death Valley National Park: A History (2013). Miller is a regular contributor of essays, commentary, and reviews to professional journals, newspapers, and online media; his blog, Golden Green, explores environmental issues in California and the West for KCET.org.

Miller joined the Environmental Analysis Program in 2007, after a 26-year stint at Trinity University in San Antonio. This five-college major is deeply interdisciplinary in its focus – which means that we have seniors writing theses in the sciences, social sciences, and humanities. Working closely with the Honnold Library staff has been essential to the wrangling of this array of disciplines and topics into some coherence, giving the students a much sharper understanding of the work that they have embarked on. Knowing that their work is going to be archived with public access provides a clarifying urgency to their research and writing, which will be the subject of my talk.

Sarah L. Shreeves is currently the Coordinator for the Illinois Digital Environment for Access to Learning and Scholarship (IDEALS), a set of services and collections supporting scholarly communication (including the institutional repository) at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. She is also the co-Coordinator for the Scholarly Commons, a space for expert, interdisciplinary research support services and open workshops for faculty and graduate students to develop skills in areas such as digital content creation, management of research data, understanding copyright issues and author rights, and working with geospatial and numeric data. She is responsible for working with faculty, students, and researchers on a range of scholarly communication issues including author rights, open access, theses and dissertations, data management, and data curation.

She is active in the next phase of development of the DMPTool as funded by the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation and is serving as the co-Program Chair for Open Repositories 2013. Sarah has a BA in Medieval Studies from Bryn Mawr College, an MA in Children's Literature from Simmons College, and a MS in Library and Information Science from UIUC. She regularly speaks and publishes on scholarly communication issues, institutional repositories, and on the social and technical barriers to metadata interoperability. She can be found on Twitter at @sshreeves.

Welcome to USETDA 2013

The USETDA Board of Directors and the Conference Organizing Committee welcome you to the USETDA 2013 Conference. We look forward to meeting everyone at The Claremont Colleges for our 3rd annual conference. We have many exciting activities planned for USETDA 2013 delegates to make the most of their learning and sharing experiences at the conference.

You will find topical information in our Conference Program — Overview, Call for Proposals and Pre Conference Workshops Web pages. Registration details are available in our Registration Info Web page. Ahead of arrival, you can arrange for transit by visiting our Travel Information Web page. For accommodations information and to confirm your reservation visit our Lodging Info Web page. For local information about Claremont, Anaheim and Los Angeles region visit our Welcome to Claremont Web page.
The Claremont Colleges Library has also created a Conference Guide to assist you upon arrival.

Once on site, we have also created a Lanyrd online app for quick reference to provide conference, campus and Claremont resources as well as an at-a-glance program schedule. Thursday evening we will gather for a Dine Around to explore the culinary delights of Claremont Village (dinner is on your own in organized groups – sign up for the Dine Around). Should you have any questions, please feel free to contact us at the registration information desks or by email at cdi@cuc.claremont.edu.

We hope you enjoy your experience at USETDA 2013 in Claremont!
We are also pleased to offer intensive learning experiences through our pre-conference workshop series. Sessions include “Copyright”, offered by expert Gail Clement of Texas A&M University at a cost of $50, which includes a robust Copyright Resources primer of printed reference materials for each participant to take back to their institutions. Concurrent pre-conference workshops “ETDs for Beginners” and “ETD Life Cycle Management” will also be offered free of charge. For complete descriptions visit the pre-conference workshops Web page.

Welcome to Claremont!

Claremont is a college town on the eastern border of Los Angeles County, California, United States, 32.5 miles east of downtown Los Angeles, at the base of the San Gabriel Mountains. The population, as of the 2010 census, is just under 35,000. Claremont is known for its many educational institutions, its tree-lined streets, and its historic buildings. In July 2007, it was rated by CNN/Money magazine as the fifth best place to live in the United States, and was the highest rated place in California on the list. Due to its large number of trees and residents with doctoral degrees, it is sometimes referred to as “The City of Trees and PhD's.”

The city is primarily residential, with a significant portion of its commercial activity revolving around "The Village," a popular collection of street-front small stores, boutiques, art galleries, offices, and restaurants adjacent to and west of The Claremont Colleges. The Village was expanded in 2007, adding a multi-use development that includes a cinema, a boutique hotel, retail space, offices, and a parking structure on the site of an old citrus packing plant just west of Indian Hill Boulevard. (“Claremont, California,” Wikipedia: The Free Encyclopedia).

The Claremont Colleges

The Claremont Colleges is a consortium of five undergraduate liberal arts colleges and two graduate institutions reminiscent of the Oxford-Cambridge model. The undergraduate colleges include Claremont McKenna College, Harvey Mudd College, Pitzer College, Pomona College and Scripps College. The two graduate institutions include the Claremont Graduate University and the Keck Graduate Institute of Applied Life Sciences. Each has its own campus, its own students and faculty, and its own distinctive mission.

The seven independent institutions on adjoining campuses offer rigorous curricula, small classes, distinguished professors, and personalized instruction in a vibrant residential college community that provides intensive interaction between students and faculty. Undergraduate students may choose from approximately 2,000 courses offered each year across the colleges. With 6,900 students and 3,600 faculty and staff, located on more than 560 acres of land, the consortium generates an endless variety of intellectual, cultural, and social activities. (“The Claremont Colleges,” Claremont University Consortium).
Planning your visit

Daytime temperatures average in the high 80s to low 90s with low humidity while nights cool down to the mid to upper 60s. A sweater or jacket may be needed in air-conditioned meeting rooms. Workshop and Institute participants usually wear business casual clothing and find that relaxed, comfortable summer attire is appropriate for all of the sessions and meals. Casual clothing is acceptable for touring.

USETDA 2013 – Pre Conference Workshops

We are also pleased to offer intensive learning experiences through our pre-conference workshop series. Sessions include “Copyright and Authoring Issues for ETD Professionals”, offered by expert Gail Clement of Texas A&M University at a cost of $50, which includes a robust Copyright Resources primer of printed reference materials for each participant to take back to their institutions. Concurrent pre-conference workshops “ETDs for Beginners” and “ETD Life Cycle Management” will also be offered free of charge.

Copyright and Authoring Issues for ETD Professionals

Presented by Gail Clement, Outreach Librarian and Associate Professor, Digital Services & Scholarly Communication, University Libraries, Texas A&M University

This highly interactive workshop focuses on the copyright and authoring issues encountered by stakeholders in the ETD submission, management and publication process. Building on copyright essentials such as copyright ownership and inclusion of third party works in the ETD (which were covered in the USETDA 2012 pre conference session, this program will consider additional questions such as ownership of copyright in multi-authored articles produced by the ETD author and inclusion of previously published articles in the ETD submission. A case study approach will provide the opportunity to consider and question issues such as negotiating with publishers and the ethics of authorship in multi-authored works.
ETDs for Beginners

Presented by John H. Hagen, Scholarly Communications Consultant, Renaissance Scholarly Communications

The successful implementation of electronic thesis and dissertation programs on campus can at first, seem to be a daunting task. This United States Electronic Thesis and Dissertation Association primer will prove extremely helpful in assisting you through this process. Armed with a team of experts, the “ETDs for Beginners” session will introduce you to concepts such as the myriad of free resources available through the USETDA AND NDLTD. Topics will include ETD implementation and political strategies, discussion of various models of homegrown ETD systems versus pre-packaged open source and commercial repository systems, ETD office automation strategies, the role of University libraries and graduate school in ETD program implementation and archiving, intellectual property issues as well as explore the usefulness of and approaches to consortia and networking to build ETD programs. This 3-hour workshop is open to rookies as well as veterans who would like a refresher on latest basic ETD concepts and resources. Get more out of attending the USETDA Conference by attending this free session.

ETD Life Cycle Management

Presented by Matthew Schultz, Program Manager, Educopia Institute

This is a first-of-its-kind opportunity for ETD stakeholders and professionals (both new and advanced) to benefit from the latest research and development regarding the full lifecycle management of ETDs. The outcomes from this workshop will include comprehensive awareness-raising of the full range of activities required for the curation and preservation of ETDs, an introduction to various modular curation tools for ETD programs, as well as a rich opportunity to make rewarding connections with other ETD stakeholders and professionals through focused interactions and discussion. This research and workshop is supported by a 2011-2013 Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS) grant.

The workshop will include two Sessions:

Session 1: Overview of ETD curation practices

Topics covered will be based on the project’s Guidance Documents for the Lifecycle Management of ETDs, including:

- Access Levels & Embargoes
- Copyright Issues & Fair Use
- Complex ETD Formats
- Metadata for ETDs
- ETD Program Options
- ETD Program Implementations
- ETD Program Costs
- ETD Usage Metrics

Session 2: Overview of ETD curation tools

Attendees will also have the opportunity to learn about a number of modular curation tools that have been investigated and enhanced during this research project and discover ways that they can begin implementing and using them in their local ETD programs.

Both of these Overview Sessions will include ample opportunity for attendees to pose follow-up questions of interest from their local ETD program perspectives, as well as respond to targeted questions for feedback.

The University of North Texas Libraries, together with the Networked Digital Library of Theses and Dissertations, the Educopia Institute/MetaArchive Cooperative, and the libraries of Virginia Tech, Rice University, Boston College, Indiana State University, Pennsylvania State University, and University of Arizona are pleased to be able to offer this USetDA 2013 pre-conference workshop.

About USETDA 2013 – Waves of Change: Oceans of Opportunity

Waves of Change: Oceans of Opportunity is the national conference for ETD professionals from all areas: graduate schools, libraries, and information technology specialists. Our focus is on relevant and current issues with an emphasis on sharing practice-based resources from around the U.S. We anticipate at least 150 people will attend, with most constituents being from the United States. In 2012, we had just over 100 participants attend and had several corporate and non-profit sponsors, including colleges and universities, institutional repository and archival system providers, digital technology applications companies, bookbinders and other library related services. Part of the conference is the ETD Technology Fair, where vendors can set up exhibits and interact with our audience. Additionally there are opportunities to participate in the conference during plenary and breakout sessions as well as through advertising and distribution of your promotional materials at the venue and online. We offer a variety of accommodations to suit your promotional needs. Waves of Change will be held at the Claremont Colleges in beautiful Claremont, California.

USETDA 2013 presentation topics will include:

- Services and outreach to enhance ETD development
• Supporting ETDs with Library services and information instruction
• ETDs and Ethics, Security & Quality
• Centralized and Decentralized submission processes
• Intellectual Property, Copyright, Patents and Tech Transfer
• Developing and implementing ETD Policies and Procedures
• ETD Innovation and Exploration
• File-types and Formatting, including issues surrounding non-traditional formats
• Publishing, Research and Data curation
• Nuts and bolts of ETD management including case studies of workflow and ingest models
• Retroactive digitization and ETD migration/harvesting
• Undergraduate and other student scholarship

Waves of Change: Oceans of Opportunity is a fantastic venue for you to reach out to your constituents. Please consider showing your support by sponsoring this important event.
